Hoover Middle School is part of the Merced City School District.

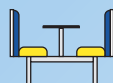

A narrow, beige colored room with rows of folding tables with benches needed our help. The open trash cans at the ends of the tables did little to help the look of the room.

A group of young "Huskies" from all grades sat with our designer and explained how they liked the 50's theme they'd seen in other restaurants. The colors were fun, the black and white checked floor looked cool and the images of records was fun.

The school had a collection of graduation pictures dating back to the 60's that were incorporated in the entire design.

All the tables in the middle of the room fold up and roll away so the room keeps some of the versatility needed in a middle school.

The juke box in the corner keeps the music fresh for the students enjoying the room.
